My career in real estate started in 1997 when I began working in the title industry. I worked my way up, starting as a policy typist, through the abstracting and examining sides of production, and into the closing side. In 1999, I began closing in the St. Charles area. Moving around, throughout St. Charles City and County, as well as Clayton and West St. Louis County, I worked very hard and strived to not only be a trustworthy employee, but also an honest and compassionate resource for all Realtors. Dabbling a small bit in Commercial and Residential Lending in 2007, I further learned about the life of Realtors and how I can better serve YOUR needs. From 2010 to 2016, I went back into the title industry before joining Home Warranty of America (HWA) in 2017. My goal here is to not only help Realtors with their home warranty needs but, through education and customer service, to help their clients save money and understand the value in warranties, as well as to be a valuable resource that you can continue to come to year after year.
